EXTRA WEAR FROM SHOES

"A year ago I had my shoes re-soled with Neolin Soles. The soles are still in service, and it looks as if I would not be able to wear them out, because the uppers are going first," said W. C. Dickinson, of New Haven, Conn.

Good repair shops everywhere carry these tough and durable soles. See for yourself how long they last by having them put on a pair of old shoes. Or if you are in need of new shoes, buy them with Neolin Soles. They cost no more than shoes that give less wear, and you need fewer pairs. They come in many styles for men, women, and children.

Neolin Soles are created by Science to be comfortable and waterproof, as well as long-wearing. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.

Dandruff Heads

Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails. adv.

Society Women Learn

Hair Curling Secret

"If your hair is straight, flat, dull looking, if you need it to curl, to possess it perpetually wavy, light, fluffy, glossy tresses," says Gladys Coleman in Society World. "I'll tell you what to do. Tonight after your hair has had its usual brushing, take a clean tooth brush, dip it in a saucer of pure liquid salerine and run this through the hair from crown to tip.

"When morning dawns and you have yawned yourself out of your drowsy state, you will have a real surprise, quite an agreeable one. Your hair will have a prettier and more natural-looking curl and lustre than it has ever had before—and there will be nothing sticky, sticky, greasy or unnatural about it. If you will get the liquid salerine from your drugist it will require no preparation, and four or five ounces will last for months. This is just the finest thing imaginable for the purpose." adv.

"SO SICK AND MISERABLE"

Mrs. A. E. Hager, 206 London Road, Duluth, Minn., writes: "I have been taking your Cadomene Tablets for the past month. They certainly did wonders for me, as I was so nervous I wasn't able to do my own housework, so sick and miserable. Now I can do all my own work and feel good all the time. My daughter and her husband have also been taking them, and they helped wonderfully."

Thousands of sick, nervous, impoverished, weak men and women have found Cadomene Tablets a true tonic and builder. Try them—if not perfectly satisfied with results the proprietors will refund the purchase price. Sold by all druggists everywhere. adv.

MILWAUKEE STILL PRO-GERMAN, SAYS FAMOUS OBSERVER

consin in the league of nations. Senator Lenroot's attacks on the league have lost him many Republican friends and many independent voters.

Many of the Republican papers in Wisconsin which are supporting the league heartily have taken occasion to criticize Senator Lenroot rather severely and only the other-day Mr. Samuel Plantz, president of Lawrence college, and a prominent Republican of the conservative type, took issue with Mr. Lenroot in a published article that was generally regarded as an effective refutation of the senator's arguments against the league. Even the Eau Claire Telegram, in Mr. Lenroot's home town, a Republican paper, has criticized his course.

The city administration and the sources from which it derived its "argument" against the city manager bill are prepared to present any suggestion for a cleaner and a better town, and the wallop they gave the city manager crowd in the legislature is as nothing compared with what they intend to hand to anybody that has the temerity to suggest that the law-abiding people should organize for the good of the city.

Anticipating an attempt on the part of the citizens committee to perpetuate itself by entering more aggressively into the conduct of municipal affairs and insist upon a more rigid enforcement of the law, there was a meeting last Sunday, attended by such of the city administration as were not in Nashville, newspaper editors supporting the city administration and well-known lawyers taking an active interest against the city manager bill. It is understood that one of the editors pledged himself to support the administration in the future, "reserving the right to criticize" the law violation.

The meeting was satisfactory. It already is beginning to bear fruit. A couple of policemen are indicted for conspiring to rob a car loaded with whisky. Nothing is printed about it. The administration is being upheld.

Representative Bell and the majority of the Shelby delegation in the house and the entire delegation in the senate passed a bill increasing the pay of the police. They got a raise of approximately $20 a month. An attempt was made to prove that Mayor Monteverde passed the bill without the assistance of any member of the legislature, when the truth of the matter is the police. Easy on Jim Kinnane.

An effort was made to persuade the city administration to agree to an amendment to the charter providing for a two-year term for the mayor and city commissioners to be elected in October. The purpose was to secure an expression of the people on the city manager form of government at an election and comply with the expressed wish of the people, voting on that and nothing else, at the next session of the legislature two years hence. The Sunday meeting considered this proposition and turned it down.

In order to make itself solid with an element that is said to have had an important part in the result of the vote on the city manager bill, a report said to have originated at the city hall, is being circulated to the effect that the recent raid by S. H. Treasor, United States marshal, accompanied by several police, netting several thousand dollars worth of liquor, was spite work on the part of the faction that lost the fight for the city manager bill, and that the city administration had nothing to do with it. It seems that the administration is very much afraid of hurting the feelings of Jim Kinnane, a dear whose property the liquor was stored, and every effort is made to placate him in the event he should have been indicted in this case.

The substantial citizens of the city are seeing every day evidence of the need for greater activity in civic affairs.

CITIZENS MUST FIGHT IF THEY BECOME ACTIVE

Administration and Its Supporters Are in Agreement to Stand Together and Oppose All Suggestions.

If the citizens' committee, composed of the leading business men of the city, think that they can enlarge the organization to include every phase of civic life and direct the efforts of the committee toward a cleaner and better town and not meet with the organized resistance of the city administration and its controlling influence, they have another thing pending to them.

The city administration and the sources from which it derived its "argument" against the city manager bill are prepared to present any suggestion for a cleaner and a better town, and the wallop they gave the city manager crowd in the legislature is as nothing compared with what they intend to hand to anybody that has the temerity to suggest that the law-abiding people should organize for the good of the city.

Disabled Soldiers Have Chances for Instruction

Among soldiers being mustered out and seeking the means of a livelihood are many who have been partially disabled. These men, it has long been known, can receive instruction at government vocational schools, but according to Mrs. E. D. Ware, in charge of the local branch of the United States employment service in the department for disabled soldiers, a few of the men realize what these schools will do for them. Perhaps they do not have the material explained fully enough at the camps, where all the energies are centered on the problem of demobilization. Whatever the real reason is, the fact remains that many disabled soldiers come back home and apply for work sometimes, for aid other times, and do not realize that the government will train them for a vocation and will pay them $60 a month while they are learning.

A typical case of this sort came in Thursday, when J. K. Balrd, now residing in Birmingham, formerly a carpenter and bookbinder, applied for a position at the employment bureau, 103 South Court avenue. He had been placed in the 48 per cent disability class, owing to the effects of shell wounds, which made it impossible for him to continue his regular line of work he pursued before the war. He acted for a time as an interpreter and a signaller at the vocational school for the Fifth district at Atlanta, Ga., where the bureau of vocational education will afford him the opportunity to become an expert interpreter, which will open a wide vista of opportunity otherwise not obtainable.

Meanwhile more and more opportunities are needed as more soldiers come in. Employers are urged to put forth greater effort in making places for men.

WOMEN EXAMINERS IN U. S. SHOW FINE SPIRIT

WASHINGTON, April 15.—That women examiners of the United States employment service are working because they believe in the service and not for the money they draw has been proved over and over since the organization was cut down for lack of funds.

A Utah representative, who was in Washington when word of the cut came, arranged by telegram for other work which would bring her an income but allow her half of each day in which to keep the employment office open. The Texas representative for an office that was not provided for by federal funds volunteered her services for three months, if necessary, and agreed to run an office for both men and women.

"I have a daughter I am helping to support while my husband is in government service," she said, "but I can make some money at night. And the service is needed in our town."

Another, a widow with a child dependent on her declared that she must have a definite income, but that if she could find any way to guarantee a minimum of the expense of office and salary she would keep her office open and ready for the service "when it comes back."

The latest word received from Ohio is that nearly one-third of the women examiners are sticking to their posts without salary until it is settled whether organizations and communities that are deeply interested but have not yet secured sufficient funds can carry their local offices until July. The other two-thirds are already cared for by federal, state, and community funds.

Support from outside sources—which has at this date more than doubled the allotment for women's work as well as for the service as a whole—will, it is believed, care for salaries of most of the women examiners who are dependent entirely on their own resources. At the same time a considerable number of women who can afford to give their full time as volunteers, and others who hold executive positions and have received salaries a little above the limit of bare subsistence, have temporarily donated, half to the service or are paying stenographers from their own pockets, because their faith in the worthwhileness and permanency of the United States employment service is unquestioned.
